Club News

Our Clubs for a vibrant campus life

Clubs are one of the most important aspects of student life. It is not only a place of personal growth, friendship inclusiveness, but also the attic of career development. It makes the student understand personal independence, teamwork, and responsibility that helps them to transform in their student life.

Primeasia University established different academic and non-academic clubs to ensure students' interest in learning about science and technology, development of students' communicative abilities, encourage their creativity in arts and culture, engagement in sports and community responsibilities through challenging and mind-stretching tasks. Club activities help them to increase their personal and professional skills and most importantly, it helps them to learn to say no, to any anti-social activities.

Primeasia University management has taken the initiative to reform all the clubs as it is found a lot of Club Members (Faculty teachers) are no longer available to support these clubs' activities, which is creating extra pressure on the limited number of responsible members and hence, the activities are also getting shrunk.

University will ensure to have a mandatory co-curricular clubs in every department. For example, Textile Club, Computer Club, EEE Club, Architecture Club, Pharmacy Club, Microbiology Club, Biochemistry Club, Nutrition Club, Law Club, Tourist Club, Business Club, Language Club, etc. Our extracurricular clubs will also be restructured, i.e. Cultural Club, Debating Club, Photography & Creative Club, Sports Club, Student Welfare & Blood Donation Club, etc.

Every club will have an advisory body, student body, club constitution, and active social media page. The Planning and Development department will be following up on Campus Life activities and give support to Clubs when required. We believe this timely initiative will boost Campus Life activities which will help our students to meet the demands of future challenges, interpersonal skills, social and professional skills.
